Theatre 101: Introduction to Theatre
This hands-on course will expose students to the world of theatre and the plays that have shaped its history. While investigating plot, character and dramatic structure, students will read plays and explore acting and staging techniques. Students will also attend local professional performances and participate in critical discussions. Taught by Nina Pinchin Associate Director of Education at Hartford Stage. Open to all students. Wednesdays 7 – 9:40pm, Spring 2012.
