Many students report feeling “isolated” in the online course environment. In this workshop, we will explore the question

“What can be done to make the online classroom more interactive?” Share what has worked for you and your students, as well as hear about what others are doing.

The conversion to the new “Blackboard Learn” platform happens this fall, so now is the time to create course elements that will provide a more socially-integrated learning experience.

Although this is a “Brown Bag” lunch, please RSVP to bgrenzinski@ccc.commnet.edu by Friday, March 30.
