Dear Friend,

Spring is here and with it comes new opportunities as we move past mid-terms and into the home stretch of the Spring semester. Speaking of new opportunities, Capital is proud to announce new partnerships with Eversource, Aquiline Drones, and the City of Hartford that lead to immediate and sustainable jobs. The college is committed to providing our students access to high-quality training and educational opportunities because that is #TheCapitalWay.

Sincerely,

Associate Dean Miranda to Lead CCC Re-Entry Task Force

Capital Community College (CCC) is forming a task force focused on education and training leading to sustainable employment for formerly incarcerated individuals as they re-enter the community, CCC Chief Executive Officer G. Duncan Harris announced.

The task force, working with the City of Hartford's Re-entry Welcome Center and other stakeholders and individuals, will set goals to improve the employment outcomes for members of the re-entry population who enroll and earn a credential in one of the College's workforce classes and programs of study. MORE

EVENTS

Capital Nurses Help Vaccination Clinic At Ball Park

In mid-March, members of the National Student Nurses Association (NSNA) and the Organization for Associate Degree Nursing (OADN) Honor Society, along with the college's nursing advisors participated in the Hartford Public Health Vaccination Clinic at the Dunkin' Donuts Park. It was an excellent opportunity for students to participate in a national health crisis response and a great give-back to our Hartford Community.
